Tip of the Month

Psychrometry

Drying Science (Psychrometry) is the study of air, water (humidity), and temperature and their effect on various materials and comfort levels.

The Psychrometric Chart shows the relationship between air volume, temperature, and relative humidity and is used along with a thermo hygrometer to determine the specific humidity, and vapor pressure.

Structure Department

Excel will coordinate emergency services including mold abatement, asbestos abatement and reconstruction services.

(Bathroom)

(Living Room)
